

ZERO LATENCY VANCOUVER REOPENS WITH SOCIAL DISTANCING EMBEDDED IN ITS VIRTUAL REALITY TECH!

(Vancouver, BC - June 10, 2020) Zero Latency Vancouver, Western Canada's new hub for free roam virtual reality, has re-opened with a new twist: A VR experience that is compliant with the best practices of social distancing.

"We're back with every bit of VR adrenalin that we can muster, backed by the best health and safety standards in the business and the new and improved Zombie Survival", said Zero Latency Vancouver principal and Experience Master Winston Cabell. "It is now officially compliant with physical distancing, with alarms sounding when you're within two metres of another player. We like to think of it as free roam VR with an extra dimension!"

In addition to the built-in social distancing of Zombie Survival, Cabell noted that Zero Latency Vancouver will be following BC health guidelines to the fullest, including heavy-duty sanitizing after every game play, using hospital grade disinfectant that kills germs, bacteria and viruses, including the novel coronavirus known to cause COVID-19. Zero Latency game masters will also be equipped with masks and gloves for the safety of all. All games will be limited to a six-player maximum, sessions will be private (no one else can join a booked group) and the bookings will be spread out so as to minimize interactions between different groups.

It's a bold and dynamic response to the challenges posed by the COVID-19 pandemic, one that shut down play at Zero Latency Vancouver at its Kingsgate Mall location less than a month after it opened with a bang on February 26th, 2020.

"We're not only happy to be back in play, we're very proud of how we're making our free roam VR technology so adaptive to the disruption of these times and doing so with an epic experience that builds on our globally-leading free roam VR tech and the best in health and safety standards," said Cabell.

Billed as the #RETURN2EPIC, the grand re-opening of Zero Latency Vancouver features special offers such as code ZLSAVE25 for a booking of 4 or 5 to save 25% or code ZLSAVE33 to receive a 33% discount off your booking of 6. Book now at zerolatencyvr.com/vancouver.
